MAY DAY CELEBRATED

May Day, recognized as a day of observance practically the world over in honor of labor victories, was being celebrated in the Crow's Nest Pass by a mass demonstration of workers assembled at a point just west of Natal, B.C.

A special train had been chartered from the C.P.R., sponsored by the local district organization of the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. The train, made up of seventeen passenger coaches, with baggage caboose, left Hillcrest station at 9 o'clock in the morning, taking from Bellevue and Hillcrest close to 100 people. It was made at Frank, where considerable augmentation of the forces was made. At Blairmore, these were added to by upwards of 300, and a considerable number joined the crowd at Coleman. At McGillivray another sixty or more joined the ranks.

At Blairmore, the great day was ushered in by a massed band of four instruments, neither of which had ever competed at any musical festival in the civilized world, but all of which could have earned highest honors in music. The corn-cob, fauce, bidge keel and elkhorn, rendered enlivening parodies of musical selections, such as Schumann or other artists had never dreamt of. The quadruple (as Angus called them) were all dressed as clowns, and performed their parts exceedingly well.

Unloading at Michel, the party from Alberta were greeted by about 500 men, women and children from our neighboring town to the west, representing an organization which has very recently decided to switch over to the M.W.U. The procession thus formed paraded west through Natal to the picnic ground, some 2 1/2 to 3 miles west of Natal, where the most enjoyable day was spent. In the parade were many children unable to walk the distance, but men and women gladly took them in arms and made matters cheerful as possible for them. At the grounds, the regular sports programme was carried out, interspersed by speech-making by Harvey Murphy, organizer, and leading labor representatives of south Alberta and southeastern British Columbia mining camps.

The jolly event was obliged to come to a close late in the evening.
The chartered train had backed down to Natal station to load up her human cargo, and left on the return trip about 10.20 p.m., amid rousing cheers from all. After stopping at all intermediate stations, Blairmore and Bellevue were reached between 1.00 and 1.30 in the morning of Wednesday.

One thing may be said, and that is that never in the history of labor organization in the Crow's Nest Pass has such an event been pulled off in such an orderly manner. While police were on hand, both in Alberta and our sister province, there really wasn't the slightest sign of any trouble brewing.

We understand that the famous band which accompanied the party to Natal will compete at the next musical festival to be held in Blair-more, and will later visit Toronto, London and Chicago.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders and directors of the Inland Petroleum Limited, held at Coleman on April 26th, the minutes of the previous annual meeting and reports of officials and auditor were approved. The reports showed the company with $8,724.41 in the bank.
Production for 1933 was 9874 barrels. The following directors were re-elected: A. M. Morrison, president;
A. M. Denmore, secretary-treasurer;
A. F. Short, auditor; Messrs. Cox, E.
K. Stewart, F. M. Thompson, George Fisher and G. E. Cruickshank, committee. The company owns two wells, located in the Red Coulee field, which were opened in 1930.

PASS COMPETITORS HIGH- LINERS AT EAST KOOTE- NAY MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Visiting delegations won the great bulk of the classes at the closing sessions of the East Kootenay musical festival Friday evening and Saturday at Cranbrook, with Dr. Arthur Collingwood, of Saskatoon, as adjudicator.

Hillcrest, Alberta, took the string quartette the junior violin, and the instrumental solo title; Blairmore took the violin quartette and the male voice choir; and Kimberley took the ladies' choir and brass band events.

A wonderful contest in symphony orchestras was staged between Hillcrest String orchestra and Cranbrook Symphony orchestra, and while the latter attained the highest mark of the festival, 91, with one of its numbers, its average, 90, was duplicated by Hillcrest.

The Friday evening session opened with the string quartette class, entries being from Coleman, Hillcrest and Blairmore, with Brevall's "In G.
Minor" being played. Expressing surprise at such excellent quality in this class, the adjudicator marked Hillcrest highest with 85 and 86, and Blairmore next with 85 and 84.

Lawrence Fisher, of Hillcrest, topped the violin solo class under 14, with 86 and 89. Paraske Gusieli, of Blairmore, was second with 84 and 84, and Beatrice Hebert, of Kimberley, was third with 84 and 82.

Kimberley Orpheus ladies' choir, under George McIntyre, won with 85 and 87 over Cranbrook Choral Society's ladies' choir.

The open violin solos closed the evening's program, eight performers playing Wieniawski's "Legende," each requiring around 12 minutes. Miss Jean Cruickshank, of Hillcrest, and John Pietrosko, of Coleman led the class with 85 points each. Miss Catherine Rose, of Hillcrest, was third with 84, and Roy Upton, of George Kerr, both of Blairmore, tying for fourth place with 83. Closely ranked below were the remaining three—Evan Gusieli, of Blairmore, Dennis McLafferly, of Bellevue, and Barbara Fink, of Cranbrook. The adjudicator paid a high compliment to Miss Chardon, the accompanist for the players from the Pass towns, the audience concurring with a hearty handclap.

Saturday morning was opened with the violin quartette classes, with contestants from four Pass towns—Michel, Coleman, Blairmore and Hillcrest. Blairmore quartet came first with 86, Hillcrest being second with 84.

The Hillcrest orchestra under W.
H. Moser came first in the school orchestra class with the high marking of 88 and 89, and the Kimberley orchestra second with 81 and 80.

One of the high lights of the festival was the sonata for violin and piano, with four entries. All the teams were complimented, and advised to go on. The marks were 87 for the Hillcrest team of Miss Jean Cruickshank, piano; Miss Catherine Rose, violin; 84 each for the Blair-more team of Miss Jean Upton, piano, Roy Upton, violin, and for the Bellevue team of Dennis McLafferty, violin, Albert Christie, piano; and 82 for the Hillcrest team of Miss Helen Rose, piano, Miss Isabel Westrup, violin.

The morning closed with the instrumental championship class. Miss Jean Cruickshank at the piano, and again on the violin, and John Pietrosko, who tied with her in the open violin the evening before, played, all numbers delighting the audience.

The imperfections of the piano were deplored, and the player called a player of exceeding musical promise. Parts of the playing of John Pietrosko were called professional, his handling of the violin being masterly. Miss Cruickshank then played on the violin against herself on the piano. Her playing was adjudged to he and Miss Cruickshank tied.

The symphony orchestra class drew the large house of Saturday afternoon, the competitors being the Hillcrest String orchestra under W.
H. Moser, and the Cranbrook Symphony orchestra under William Ravony. The Hillcrest group was mentioned for its beautiful unified tone and phrase shaping and sense of climax. He said it had been the best revelation so far of the significance of melodic curve content. It was marked 90. Two numbers were played by the Cranbrook group, "Valse Trieste" and "Pomp and Circumstance," giving wide scope for the talents of the orchestra. It was stated to be a quite excellent per-

SEES SOME HOPE FOR SOLVING WHEAT PROBLEM

London.—"I am confident the world wheat problem is yielding to the patience and co-operative endeavor of the governments of both exporting and importing countries," declared John J. McFarland, of Winnipeg, as he prepared to return home.

Mr. McFarland was chief Canadian delegate at the world wheat conference in Rome which drew up a plan for a minimum world price for export wheat to be submitted to the respective governments. The conference is to resume at London next month, hoping to have received replies which will permit of drawing up a definite scheme that may be put in operation.

Mr. McFarland added, "the degree of unanimity we achieved at Rome augurs well for further success."

Meanwhile a protest against proposals formulated at the world wheat conference to establish a system of minimum world prices for export wheat will, it is understood, be drawn up by a special committee of the London Corn Trade Association for submission to the British government.

Sir Herbert Robson, the president, addressed the members in the Merchants' hall of the Baltic exchange on the subject of the recent Rome conference, which is to be renewed in London next month to receive the views of the represented governments on the minimum price scheme. The meeting was presided over by Sir Herbert's address it was decided to set up a committee to draw up a protest.

London.—The King and Queen of Siam have arrived for a six weeks' visit to London and will be welcomed there by Queen Victoria. The exclusive hotel suite in the world corner rooms of the first floor of a famous hotel that have never been occupied by anyone except royalty. The Empress Eugenie once occupied the suite and was visited there by Queen Victoria. This being the only occasion Victoria ever set foot in a London hotel.

The diminutive Siamese sovereign and his consort, who will shortly make another visit to the United States, will observe complete privacy during their stay. They will make a visit to Buckingham Palace, however.

Ottawa.—The house banking and commerce committee defeated a motion by William Irvine, U.F.A. member for Wetaskiwin, which would restrict the salaries of high bank officials to the amount currently received as salary by the prime minister of Canada. The committee also defeated a motion by the same member which would authorize bank employees to organize for the purpose of negotiating with their employers with respect to salaries, hours of work and general working conditions.

Alberta Liquor Permits

Reduction In Fees To Take Effect May 1st

Edmonton.—Reductions of liquor permit fees from $2 to 50 cents will take effect May 1, it was announced by it. J. Dinning, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board. On the same date, sales of bottled beer to be taken off hotel permits, will be permitted.

The main vendors' stages in Edmonton and Calgary will remain open each night until midnight, commencing May 1, Mr. Dinning also announced.

Those who have already purchased $2 permits will be given a refund upon making application, but there will be no such refunds after the end of the year. The new 50-cent permit will be good for all liquor purchases by its holder until the end of 1934.

Reductions in permits for druggists, physicians, veterinarians and dentists from $2 to $1 also are to take effect May 1. For hospitals, sanatoriums and similar private institutions, the permits are to cost 50 cents, instead of $1, previously.

Hopper War

Proper Temperature Only Needed To Develop Eggs

Saskatoon.—Farmers and grasshoppers are engaged in a race in which the grasshoppers have now advanced 220 degrees-hours in the Saskatoon district, according to K. M. King, in charge of the federal entomological laboratory here. The farmers must get their protective measures completed before the hoppers advance 5,000 degree-hours, he explains.

It all depends on the warmth. Half an inch below the surface of the soil, millions upon millions of grasshopper eggs are waiting. If the soil temperature remains below 62 degrees they will remain undeveloped indefinitely.

But above 62 degrees the eggs begin to develop and one hour at 10 degrees above 62 degrees produces as much effect as 10 hours at one degree above that point.

U.S. Navy Plans

Plan To Construct 20 To 35 Ships To Replace Navy's Old Steamers

Washington.—Within four months the United States government expects to start building 20 of the 85 ships needed to bring the United States navy up to treaty limits.

President Roosevelt let it be known that the $1,000,000 appropriation bill he will submit to congress shortly would provide money for initial construction in the treaty navy program.

That bill, said Chairman Carl Vinson of the house naval committee, will carry about $400,000 for the first year's work on six submarines of 1,300 tons, 12 destroyers of 1,500 tons and two destroyer leaders of 1,850 tons.

May Hold Conference

Imperial Meeting In London Suggested For Next Year

London.—In a special despatch from his Canberra correspondent, the Times had the suggestion had arisen during the visit of Stanley Bruce, Australian minister to the United Kingdom, an imperial conference might be held next year in London to consider questions of defence and economic policy in the light of the Ottawa agreements.

The newspaper said feeling existed in Australia in view of an apparent standstill in disarmament negotiations the decline in empire defence had created a situation of grave importance.

Complaints Are Laid

Montreal.—Armed with recent amendments to the Women's Minimum Wage Act providing for heavier penalties including imprisonment for labor employers who allow sweatshop conditions in their factories, Gus Francis, chairman of the Women's Minimum Wage Commission, and Lucien Rodier, K.C., counsel, prepared complaints against seven dressmaking firms and Judge Maurice Tetreau signed the necessary summons.

Going To English Home

Calgary.—Alberta's rancher Earl of Egmont, who had heretofore refused to have anything to do with his peers in England, plans to leave soon for the home of his ancestors. It was learned here. The Earl was out of town but the secretary to the earl said plans for his departure were completed soon, although no date of departure had been set.

Assistance For Airways

Appeal Is Made To Government For Some Aid

Ottawa.—An appeal was made to the government to give assistance in the way of contracts of some nature to the Canadian Airways, Limited. At a meeting with Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice; Hon. R. J. Manion, minister of railways; J. A. Richardson, president of the company; Sir Charles Gordon and E. W. Beatty, the situation was canvassed.

It was contended the company was doing a great work in the north in the development of mining and is making communication possible in the remote districts. The company had been hard hit by the loss of air mail contracts and it was suggested that some work be provided by the government.

The Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways each put $250,000 into one airways company. For some time reports have been current that the air mails would be resumed. It is understood the government took the company's request into consideration.

Marooned Air Party Reaches Dawson Creek

Spent Winter In North After Plane Crashed Last August

Dawson Creek, B.C.—Marooned in the snowbound north all winter after their airplane crashed August 21 last in the remote upper half-way country near Cypress Creek, Captain C. A. Simmons, Mrs. Betty Rossbach and Pilot John Bonnell, all of Chicago, have reached Dawson Creek in their rebuilt machine.

The party was exploring the possibilities of landing places between Fort St. John and the "tropical valley" last August when the motor of the machine quit cold above Cypress Creek. It was completely wrecked in the crash but none of the party was injured.

CONCESSIONS IN TARIFFS SOUGHT BY DELEGATES

Ottawa.—Delegations continue to haunt the offices of Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, seeking concessions with respect to taxation and tariff announced in the budget. A large delegation of steel and coal men had a conference with the minister with respect to the reduced drawback on soft coal used for manufacturing coke, while another delegation of steel men objected to the widened empire preference on iron or steel plates.

The delegation representative of the Yukon Gold Company was introduced to the ministers by Hon. George Black, speaker of the House of Commons, who represents the Yukon. They added their objections to the protests against the 10 per cent. tax on gold.

Any changes the government decides to make with respect to budget resolution will be announced as customary, in the House of Commons. Mr. Rhodes promised the government's careful consideration of all representations.

Revolution In Wireless

Marconi Using Shorter Wave Lengths Than Any Yet Known

London.—A revolution in wireless communication may result from new experiments now being carried out by Guglielmo Marconi using much shorter waves than any yet known, the Morning Post said.

Senator Marconi is engaged in the first regular communication tests over distances of hundreds of miles between stations near Genoa and Leghorn in Italy, using wave-lengths of 50 and 60 centimetres.

The newspaper interviewed the inventor and was told the experiments were obtaining "very fair reception, although not as good as we want."

There was no apparent difference between day and night reception on the new wave lengths, Senator Marconi told the newspaper representatives, but there were other variations the cause of which they had not yet discovered.

Senator Marconi added the new waves greatly extended the range and would probably be applicable to television. He concluded they would prove this advantage. "That there would be no interference of any kind."

New Party Alignments

Events Are Moving Behind The Political Scenes In Britain

London.—Behind the political scenes forces are moving to new alignments of parties preparing for battle.

Sir Thomas Inskip, attorney-general and true-blue Conservative, proposes creation of a new national party to fight Socialism.

Labourites meantime hail the capture of the North Hammonds seat as an emphatic condemnation of the National government and endorsement of the Labor party program.

Liberals met at Bournemouth to consider policy and plans of campaign.

Sir Oswald Mosley's Fascists claim to be rapidly gaining ground, although not represented in the house.

Business Picks Up

Economic Position Still Continues To Be More Favorable

Toronto.—An economic position "more favorable than at any time since about mid-summer of 1931" was reported by the Financial Post in its quarterly survey of Canadian business. "In the first two months of 1934 alone," the paper says, "jobs were found for over 105,000 men and women. These figures crystallize just how far business recovery is making headway in this country."

The paper's index, based on 47 factors in business and industry shows a gain of 31 per cent. in the past year.

With the two major exceptions of export wheat movement and new building permits, improvement was distributed in the case of building permits, the paper notes that while totals for the first quarter of 1934 were down, March permits were higher than those of March last year.

For the first quarter, the survey shows, railway traffic improved by about 24 per cent. over the same period last year. Last week's car-loadings in the western division were the highest reached this year, because of gains in livestock, lumber, pulp and paper, ore and wheat loadings.

The basic iron and steel industry has found new business from automobile companies, mines and export sources in recent months, the survey finds. Automobile plants have been carried on by good export business and lately a "deluge" of domestic orders.

Freedom Of The Press

American Newspaper Publishers Urge Members To Be Vigilant

New York.—The American Newspaper Publishers Association unanimously adopted a resolution urging its members to be "increasingly vigilant" to protect the principles of the freedom of the press from impairment.

The resolution—watched closely in view of the fight waged by an A.N.P.A. committee for a free press clause in the daily newspaper code—avoided any criticism of the N.R.A. or United States government officials.

Will Net Large Sum

High Price Being Paid To Trappers For Muskrat Skins

Prince Albert, Sask.—First it was hogs, and now muskrats are contributing their bit to the return of better times here. Within three days approximately $25,000 has been paid out for skins and still they are coming in.

It is believed that at least 150,000 hides will be brought into the city within the next few weeks. These will net trappers approximately $112,500. Prices are double what they were last year.

JAPAN'S POLICY IN CHINA IS NOW CLARIFIED

Tokyo.—The question of Japan's policy toward China was "clarified" by foreign minister Koki Hirota during a friendly talk with Sir Francis Lindley, British ambassador to Japan.

In response to the British request for a clarification of the foreign office spokesman's statement regarding China, Hirota told Sir Francis that although the spokesman's declaration was not official it was nevertheless a clear enunciation of Japan's policy regarding China.

This policy, previously espoused by Hirota himself in a trenchant speech before the Imperial Diet, is not a move toward exclusion by Japan of other countries from China, Hirota asserted. The open door doctrine, guaranteed under the nine-power treaty of 1922, is not affected, even by implication, except in so far as traffic in potential military materials is concerned, the foreign minister said.

London.—The United Kingdom eagerly scanned reports from Tokyo that the British ambassador had been informed the "hands off China" declaration was a clear exposition of Tokyo government policy, although unofficial at the time it was issued.

Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, was unable to give the House of Commons any information when he was questioned on the situation described as an ominous one by leading newspapers, declaring it would probably be some days before he would be able to present a report on the conversation between the British and Japanese governments.

FEDERAL AID IS SOUGHT FOR LIVESTOCK MEN

Ottawa.—Government ownership of Canadian stockyards was proposed by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture from Alberta, when he appeared before the Stevens committee on price spreads and mass buying. The yards, he said, should be operated on a self-sustaining basis as public utilities, and the federal government could handle them better than provincial governments since it "had more money" to carry on the initial work. There could be no loss of ultimately, he said, for the yards would carry themselves.

Mr. Hoadley further suggested an educational campaign to increase domestic consumption of wheat, and steps to buy greater quantities of manufactured goods from Great Britain so in the long run pro quo policy of that country it would not further restrict cattle imports from Canada.

He proposed the government should consider an "all-inclusive rate" on cattle shipments to the United Kingdom so ranchers would know definitely what their costs would be. There should be restriction of imports of meat, both chilled and canned, into Canada, he said, for "the heavy import of meat into Canada is a thorn in the side of the meat producers here."

The remarks of the British ministers that, unless the Dominions bought more, the flow of natural product from the Dominions to the U.K. markets were stressed by Mr. Hoadley, who urged that the government should do everything possible to prevent further restrictions of live cattle shipments to that country.

Ranchers of Alberta and Saskatchewan must not be allowed to go into bankruptcy, he said, and the government should not hesitate to come to their rescue. Stability of prices for the ranchers was imperative.

Packers should not have such control over the markets as they had at present, it was felt. "Packer gross profits of 35 per cent. in 1932 was not shared with the man who raised the cattle. There should be a more equitable division."

He urged amendment of the Livestock Act to make packers publish prices they paid for cattle as was the case with stockyards.

Hogs should be sold in grades, but this could not be done while 90 per cent. of Alberta hogs were sold direct to the packers. The man on the hog lot and the packer who was being exploited by the packers, said Mr. Hoadley.

No Joint Action

British Stake In China Greater Than Japan's

London.—The result of the British representations to the Japanese government over the latter's "hands off China" declaration was in the hands of the government, but despite impatient queries in the House of Commons its substance remained a carefully guarded secret.

Although the government refused to make any statement for the time being, there was some significance in the release from authoritative sources of figures showing that Britain's commercial stake in China is more than twice as great as Japan's, and way ahead of the United States investment.

This fact lent added weight to the authoritative information that Britain would not consider joint action with any other power in dealing with the new Japanese doctrine.

Seeding Almost Finished

Lethbridge.—In the Lethbridge section of southern Alberta, 50 per cent. of the wheat seeding was now completed and 74 per cent. of the sugar beet crop is in the ground, with early sown beets showing in the rows. Seed is going into a splendid seed bed and rapid germination of all crops is expected.

Use Snow Plows For Dust

Red Oak, Ia.—Snow plows were busy in Montgomery county, following the recent dust storm that lashed the states of Nebraska and Iowa and left the roads in this county clogged with dust. In some places some to three feet deep. The snow plows were called out to clear the roads.

Declines Test For Age

Istanbul, Turkey.—Turkey's "Methusalem," Zaro Akha, has declined to undergo a test to determine his age, fearing a report on the conversation between the British and Japanese governments.

"RUSSIA, PAST AND PRESENT"

Members of the Red Deer Branch of the Military Institute on Wednesday evening last heard an interesting and informative address by Captain R. S. Gillespie on Russia—the title being "Russia, 1500, 1917, 1933." Major W. T. H. Cripps presided, and the attendance was a little smaller than usual.

Captain Gillespie very soon showed that he had done a large amount of intensive reading on his subject. Opening with a brief description of the peopling of Russia by the Muscovites, illustrated by the use of a large wall map of Europe, he sketched in outline the constitution of mediaeval Russia under the czars, describing something of the system of serfdom that prevailed. Tracing the influences that led to the revolution of 1917 and the general course it took, he went on to discuss the "Five-Year Plan" originated in 1928. It is the fashion among writers on modern Russia to draw attention to the items in which the Russians had fallen short of their five-year schedule. The speaker, without overlooking this phase, called attention to the other side—a large number of items in which they had far exceeded their schedule, going a long way towards neutralizing the shortcomings. The shortage is mostly in the heavy industries, steel, iron, coal and large machinery.

Captain Gillespie discussed the social side of modern Russian life, as well as the economic. Religion, amusements, marriage and divorce, penal institutions, education, and other matters were pictured, and a number of questions following the lecture fully answered.—Red Deer Advocate

SAW THE DEITY

This is the best story of the week as told by Bill Mitchell, of the Kincardine News. The Owen Sound bank manager mentioned in the story was probably Walter Elliott.

The story is told of four Southern United States citizens of means being in the Georgian Bay district last fall hunting and fishing. They camped on a good sized island and liked it so well that they decided to try and buy the island for a summer and fall home. By inquiries they found the owner, asked him if he would sell, and his price. He said he would sell if they would pay him four thousand dollars spot cash. They decided to take it and told the owner that if he would come to Owen Sound with them in their launch they would get him the money, and which he consented to do. They were unknown to any of the bank managers in Owen Sound, and though they offered to pay telegraph expenses, they could not procure the cash. One manager suggested that as it was only a three-hour drive by motor car to Toronto, they had better go there and see the general manager. As they were anxious to get the island they decided to follow the manager's advice. At Toronto they phoned for an appointment and upon getting it, deputized one of the party to do the interviewing, the others remaining outside. He was inside for about half an hour and came out rather ghostly looking. Upon reaching his companions they said, "Did you get the money?" And he replied, "No, I didn't get the money, but I saw God."—Ex.

"A SAGA OF THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER"

A beautiful calendar, about the tenth of a series on Canada being issued by the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Limited, was received by The Enterprise this week. The title is "A Saga of the St. Lawrence River." The story told pictorially, in observance of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Canada, and its mighty river, represents an event of great national significance.

It was on April 14th, 1534, that Jacques Cartier, "The Mariner of St. Malo," sailed forth, in the service of Francis I., King of France, on his first voyage of discovery in search of the long sought passage to the western sea, and unwittingly stumbled on the shores of a new world.

Coasting Newfoundland and passing through the Strait of Belle Isle and into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, ever sailing westward, he reached the island of Anticosti and from its northern shore glimpsed the "Great River of Canada," broad and mighty in volume, like the lakes that store its strength and extending with its chain of lakes for one thousand miles right into the heart of the continent.

The history of Canada is bound up with her waterways, and they are the key to her early national and present economic life. On the shores of the St. Lawrence our history first began and from the old city of Quebec her adventurous children set forth to every strategic point on the St. Lawrence, and the Great Lakes, making new paths for civilization.

The twelve plates illustrating the story of the St. Lawrence have been reproduced from the originals prepared for the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Limited, by G. S. Bagley, whose work will be greatly admired for its unusual style and artistic effect.

FAMILY STYLE

MEALS ON TRAINS

Montreal, Que., April 30.—A la carte meals will disappear from the dining car menus on the Continental Limited, Canadian National Railways' daily train between Montreal and Vancouver, and also on the Ocean Limited and the Maritime Express between Montreal and Halifax on May 1st, it is announced by W. W. Swinden, general superintendent of sleeping, dining and parlor car service of the Canadian National Railways.

Commencing May 1st, all meals served on these trains will be of the table-d'hôte variety—complete meals of the "plate service" type, popularly priced to meet present-day trends. There will also be special meals offered at lower prices for children under ten years of age. It is anticipated that the innovation will prove very popular and acceptable with the travelling public.

Breakfasts range in price from thirty-five cents to one dollar, luncheons from fifty cents to ninety cents and dinners from seventy-five cents to one dollar twenty-five cents, under the new plan. The prices shown on the menu cover the entire meal.

One cannot blame the United States public for becoming disgusted with their police forces, in the light of the recent Dillinger escape. Most any group of school boys could have organized a round-up and barricaded the roadways so that motor escape could have been impossible. But no, the U. S. federal agents apparently believe in giving their gangsters a "rotting chance," regardless of how many police and civilians are ruthlessly shot down. In the Wisconsin raid of this week, the blockade of three bridges would have prevented all chance of escape by motor car, but no one seemed to have thought of that till the public became indignant and pointed it out to the federal authorities. The U. S. people are beginning to find out that it does not pay to make heroes out of bandits.—Clareholm Local Press.

Most Especially Conducted

The Captain and the crew, the ship's Doctor, and more particularly the kindly, motherly stewardesses of the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare all shared the responsibility of personally conducting the recent trans-Atlantic journey of Mary Estella Barr, of Halifax. Mary Estella has six months of very active life behind her, and the best wishes of the Montclare's personnel for many happy years to come. The journey was necessary because Mary Estella is motherless, and her father, Peter Barr of Halifax, though unwilling to part with his baby daughter, yielded to the wishes of his parents in Leith, Scotland, to send the baby to them. Her grandparents met her at Glasgow.

IDEA FOR AN

COME TAX RETURN

(H. I. Phillips in the Chicago Daily News).

U. S. Treasury Dept., Washington, D.C.

Gents:—The enclosed form, on which I am asked to make a record of my income for the last fiscal year, is returned to you with my kind respects and my deepest appreciation of this subtle form of flattery. I was particularly impressed by its resurrection of old forms and figures of English speech such as "compensation from outside sources," "net profit received," "income from rents," "interest on bank deposits," etc.

One question I got a great laugh out of was "Were you during the taxable year supporting in your household one or more persons closely related to you?" Boy, that's a hokey! Say, Mister Secretary, you would be surprised. There are so many persons closely related to me staying over at my house that I am what you would call surrounded. Only the other day three more distant cousins of my wife's blew in, making a new high for the movement. And one of them brought a friend.

For the last four years my house has been full of strangers, all claiming to be my cousins or aunts or something. I can't identify half of them; and what burned me up was when my wife's Uncle Jerry, who has been living with us a year, slapped me on the back the other day and asked, "Haven't I seen you some place before?"

The form says it will allow me $400 for each dependent relative and I would say the government is overpricing them, as I would trade the entire lot for $11 and throw in a pair of bicycle pants and a magic lantern. (Two of my wife's aunts you can have for the asking).

Heigh-ho and alackaday! The blank asks me to describe my business as provided in Item 2, and I am glad to answer: Lousy! Mister Secretary, Lousy! It asks me to "enter on line 1 and schedule A my total receipts for 1933." I wish you would stop joking, Mr. Secretary. Fun is fun, but enough is enough and you can carry anything too far.

Then you say something about allowances for "obsolescence, depletion and depreciation." That's where I come in. As an American business man, I am a study in obsolescence. I am depleted, deflated, depressed, denatured, denounced, deranged and dejected. I am despondent, despairing, denuded, debunked and dehydrated. And so is my old man. Yours in a barrel.—Elmer Twitchell.

I'M FEELIN' FINE, ARE YOU?

There ain't no use in kickin', friend,
When things don't come your way;
It does no good to holler round,
And grumble night and day.
The thing to do is curb your grief,
Cut out your little whine;
And when they ask you how you are,
Just say "I'm feelin' fine."

There ain't no man alive but what Is booked to get his sleep;
There ain't no man that walks but What
From trouble gets his rap.
Go mingle with the bunch, old boy,
Where all the bright lights shine,
And when they ask you how you are,
Just say "I'm feelin' fine."

Your heart may just be bustin' with Some real or fancied woe,
But when you smile the other folks
Ain't really apt to know.
The old world laughs at heartaches,
friend,

Be they your own or mine,
So when they ask you how you are,
Just say "I'm feelin' fine."

Bobby: "My sister will be down in a few minutes. She's upstairs rehearsing."

Jim: (who has come prepared): "What's she rehearsing?"

Bobby: "I don't know exactly, but she's standing in front of a mirror, blushing and saying: "My, Jim—this is so sudden!"

EDDIE, THE AD MAN

OUR LIL' OL' WANT ADS ARE DOING THE BUSINESS—ONLY YESTERDAY A LADY SAW AN AD "DIAMOND BROOCH FOR SALE," AND LAST NIGHT BURGLARS BROKE INTO HER HOUSE AND STOLE IT—DONT TELL ME THAT EVERYBODY DON'T READ THE WANT ADS!

The other day we heard of one of those new pe-wee autos speeding fifty-miles an hour on one of our main highways; and every fifty feet or so the little trinket would hop right up in the air about five feet. A motor cop finally overtook the midget motor and brought it to a stop. "What's the big idea of that car jumping that way?" the cop asked. The driver answered: "Why, officer, there's nothing wrong with the car. You see, I have the hic-hic-hiccups."

The Open Road

SUPPOSE you came suddenly upon two roads. One straight, well-trodden... the other thin and twisting off into undergrowth. If you didn't want to arrive at any place in particular, you might choose the latter. But not otherwise.

Before you, as buyer, run two roads. One is the road of knowledge, of an advertised product. Thousands use it. There's no mystery about it, no doubting, nothing hidden. It leads the way definitely to a fountain pen, a floor wax, a tooth-paste that will give you satisfaction. When you use an advertisement, you use an open road.

When you don't use advertisements, you go the doubtful road. You have only hazy knowledge of the product ahead. No trademark or name to depend upon guides you. The result may or may not be worth the effort. You don't know.

Read the advertisements. Anything widely advertised—breakfast food, hammer, hair tonic—has proved itself good by advertising.

Advertisements put you on the open road to Satisfaction

"NAPOLEON," HILLCREST'S WONDER HORSE

Orphaned when a baby—mother love heret. Deprived of hope and pity, will to live still left. Existence no one figures, about the apoll. Wanton hurt and danger, yet survives them all.

Scrounging round the back lanes, weak and stumbling feet; See the tiny creature—sight that's hard to beat. Weaned on scraps of garbage, while snow flurry flies; Few weeks old, yet hardened—object of surprise.

Hunger drives it forward on its lonesome round; Wobbling on splayed fellocks, canine bark resound. Boys with joking spirit make it latest game, Choose a word to dub it—"Jesse" is the name.

Now becomes a target of human mood or whim; Loved or tormented moments—equine Kipling's "Kim." Times are growing harder, and the famished colt. Meets outrageous censure—lacks the strength to bolt.

Jessie's growing older, many schoolboy fans, Patted by the rasels, shod with empty cans. Rigged with haywire harness, pulls a heavy load, Learning spartan spirit—indifference to the goad.

Developing nonchalance, determination grows; In quest of some nutrition, hangs round the open doors. Even enters one beer parlor and consternation makes; Once into the schoolroom his gawky frame betakes.

Unanimous opinion decides to change its name, For such a fearless hero "Napoleon" suits its fate. The camp's four-legged hobo its moniker approves, Responding to it quickly when'er to grub it moves.

In mute, persistent manner, evolving some new trick, Rising up gate latches, carefully but slick, Whence to get a hand-out from sympathetic friend, Seeming "dumb" Napoleon has knowledge without end.

A pleasant transformation with age has taken place, The very "ugly duckling" can even lay claim to grace. Gossip says Napoleon has something up its sleeve— A hard-boiled old leg puller is what some folk believe.

Strengthens its connections with benefactor friends, Thus giving stable-knowledge of means that lead to ends; Insinuates its presence with ever-growing nerve, Prospecting for new pastures its future needs to serve.

We ask ourselves a question, as thoughtful we debate, "Can a poor dumb creature ever reciprocate?" Our school kids bring the answer, as through the door they bolt: "Ma-Ma! can you believe it? Napoleon has a colt!"

At last there are to be Canadians. The agitation has been long, but the point has been conceded, and from now on registration of birth forms will carry a space wherein a child born in Canada may be designated a Canadian. This will place, it is estimated, eighty per cent of the people now living in Canada in their right column of nationality. Belated though it is, the change will be very acceptable.—Ex.

Some Idiotic Contests

Craze For Needle Threading Is Most Foolish One Yet

We are told by the ladies who write pieces for the paper that the needle-threading craze has reached Vancouver.

This entertaining form of folly consists of an open competition in which the contestants vie with each other in seeing which one can jam the most threads through the eye of a needle.

We have had successively dance marathons, rocking chair marathons, hog-calling contests, rolling pin heaving matches, flagpole stunts, piano-playing marathons and even liars' contests.

But we respectfully submit that this frenzy for threading needles is the most insane one of the lot.

Idiotic contests seem to be in our blood. We just can't shake them off. So let's establish another one.

Instead of competing with each other to see who can dance longest or call a hog the loudest, why not compete to see who can devise the nuttiest kind of a contest to keep the other nuts busy?—Vancouver Sun.

Precious Glass Of Water

University Of Michigan Values It At Ten Thousand Dollars.

The most precious glassful of water in the world—$10,000 worth—is under lock and key in the University of Michigan laboratories, guarded as jealously as radium.

It is "heavy water" in its pure state, deuterium oxide, discovered only two years ago and valuable in the treatment of cancer. Prof. J. C. Halford, Leigh C. Anderson and John R. Bates have worked out a plan to increase the university's valuable supply to two quarts within two years.

A report on the process was given at the meeting of the American Chemical Society in St. Petersburg, Fla. Prof. Halford hopes that the water may some day prove valuable in curing the ailments of old age.

Little Journeys In ScienceOXYGEN

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

It has been known for centuries that the air contains at least two components—an active and an inactive one. More than a thousand years ago the Chinese called the active part yin (oxygen). They discovered that this active gas combined with sulphur, with charcoal, and with some of the metals. The inactive part is nitrogen.

Experiments show that approximately one-fifth of the air is made up of this active gas known as oxygen. This element not only occurs in the air but is found most abundantly combined with other substances. It comprises nearly 50% of the earth's crust, about 89% of water, 65% of the human body, and a very large part of such substances as saltpetre, limestone, brick and mortar.

Oxygen is a gas without color, taste or odor. It is a little heavier than air and would be unsuitable for filling zeppelins. It is very slightly soluble in water, 100 cubic feet of water dissolving only about 4 cubic feet of the gas under ordinary conditions. There is, however, enough of the gas dissolved in water to supply the needs of fish, which are cold-blooded.

This gas does not burn itself, but it supports burning or combustion. It combines with a large number of other elements. This tendency is not very great at ordinary temperatures, but at higher temperatures oxygen reacts very vigorously, usually giving off heat and light. The substances produced when elements combine with oxygen are known as oxides, and the process is called oxidation. Many oxides occur in nature as valuable minerals and ores.

Oxygen is not only the most abundant element but the most useful, because life, heat, and light are largely dependent upon it. Considerable quantities of oxygen are used for cutting and welding metals by the oxy-acetylene blow torch. Oxygen in tanks is used to restore the supply in the air of submarine boats.

It has been found that aviators who ascend to high altitudes, where the amount of oxygen and so become "dopey." An equipment has been designed to supply the oxygen from a tank through a connecting tube to a face mask covering the mouth and nose.

Physicians sometimes use oxygen tanks for patients who are suffering from pneumonia or suffocation.

Gardening

Early Planting Usually Ensures An Early Harvest

Now that May has arrived it should be fairly safe to try a few rows of those vegetables which are not usually sown until later. If frost does come along, there is a small loss as the ground can be used over again, whereas if the stuff pulls through there is the satisfaction of having from one's own garden, vegetables unusually early. Beans, potatoes, corn, tomatoes and a few of the other tender and semi-tender vegetables can be treated in this way. With hardy sorts like spinach, radish and lettuce, one can make the first sowings just as soon as the ground is fit to work. Frost may hold them back but it will not hurt them. Handle the end of the planting season in the same way, that is make a sowing or two after the usual time for planting, so that there will be stuff coming along weeks after the main crop has been picked.

Some people desire to include some fruit with the garden. In the prairie provinces or Northern Quebec or Ontario, there are some hardy types as well as good crabapples available. Among sweet cherries, Winders, Bing and Tartarians are recommended, while Montmorency and Early Richmond are standards of the other type. Plums are grown almost anywhere in Canada, as well as currants, raspberries, strawberries, blackcaps, thimble berries, logan berries, and gooseberries.

There are few gardens, indeed, where one cannot work in screening material to advantage. Even if there are not dog kennels, chicken runs and telephone poles to be hidden, the general layout is improved where all is not visible from one point. Of course permanent screens are only produced by the use of perennials, such as evergreens, shrubs and long-lived climbers. But quite satisfactory results can also be secured by selecting the right type of annuals. For instance, African Marigolds, Cosmos, Ornamental Sunflowers, Larkspurs, Castor Beans, and other bushy, fairly tall plants will make satisfactory screens by early July. Among the climbers of an annual nature there are Morning Glories, Nasturtiums, Sweet Peas, Hops, and Scarlet Runners.

The old gardener was right in planting peas early. Like the flowering kind it does not seem as if the garden variety can be put in too early. Invariably the biggest crops are produced by the early sown rows. On this account it is best to plant all the peas about the same time, and that is just as soon as the soil is fit to work. To be on the safe side, in those parts of the Dominion where late and very heavy frosts are liable to occur it might be well to put half the peas in on the first possible sowing date and the remainder about 10 days later. Where the climate is mild and the growing seasons goes into late September sometimes a fall crop can be harvested from July to August sowing. To ensure a long harvesting period, and with a vegetable like this the season cannot be too extended. It is advisable to sow early, medium and late varieties. The first sorts are ready in about 50 days while some of the later ones do not start coming on until a fortnight later. The taller, large podded sorts are generally considered the sweetest and best, but they take up more room. For best results they should be provided with brush or strings for support or can be sown broadcast. Peas, like corn, have a flavor all their own when cooked within an hour of picking.

Banns Instead Of License
"Depression Practice" Cost Alberta $9,000 Last Year

Hamilton (Ont.) is not alone in its loss from marriage license revenue. The same condition exists in Alberta, and it cost the province $9,000 in 1933 because young couples had their marriage banns pronounced in church rather than pay the $6 license fee.

"All denominations are doing it now," said Donald Mackie, provincial statistics registrar. Hamilton city reported revenue loss of $1,000 because of the "depression practice."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 6

JESUS ACCLAIMED AS KING

Golden Text: "Wherefore also God highly exalted him, and gave unto him the name which is above every name." Philippians 2:9.
Lesson: Matthew 21:1-16.
Devotional Reading: Hebrews 1:8-12.

Explanations And Comments

Preparations for the Triumphal Entry, verses 1-6. When near Bethphage, not far from Jerusalem, Jesus sent two of his disciples on ahead to find in the village an ass tied, and a colt with him which they were to loose and bring to him. If the owner objected, they had only to say "The Lord hath need of them," and he would allow the animals to be taken. Matthew added that this was done in fulfillment of the prophet Zechariah's words (12:14-16):

"As plainly as the crowing of a new monarch and the flourish of trumpets and the kissing of his hand by the great officers of state proclaim him king, so unmistakably does our Lord by riding into Jerusalem on an ass and by accepting the hosannas of the people proclaim himself the King promised to men through the Jews, as the King of peace who was to win men to his rule by love and away them by a Divine Spirit." (Marcus Dods).

The man who owned the colt and let the disciples take it for Jesus' use, was a better follower of the Christ than many of those who acclaimed him at his triumphal entry. Heeds often show the state of the heart better than words. Loyal service is better than hosannas.

The Triumphal Entry, verses 7-11. The disciples followed instructions and brought the ass. They put their cloaks upon it for Jesus to sit upon, and the multitude with them spread their garments in the way or cut branches from the trees and spread them down for Jesus to travel over. "Some have ridiculed the idea of spreading them down for Jesus to travel over." "Some have ridiculed the idea of spreading branches on the road as offering incense and incense is dangerous, and yet the orthodox custom in Russia, in a funeral procession, is to spread branches with branches of life" (W. A. Foster). Because of John 12:13, it has been generally supposed that the branches were palm branches, although John only mentions the fact that the people came out from Jerusalem to meet Jesus bearing branches. We know from Revelation 7:9 that palms were carried as symbols of victory and rejoicing.

John tells us that many people, excited by the news of the raising of Lazarus (which the records, hurried from Jerusalem to meet and to honor to Jesus, while following with Jesus the other multitude of Galileans on their way to Jerusalem to keep the Passover. Both crowds united in crying, "Hosanna to the Son of David."

Does Not Harm the Heart

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry merely, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the spoiled daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter; Sylvia Todd, Peter's model; and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarreled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter and Camilla meet. Camilla, with her imperiousness. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they wake up the next morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Bowman and Werth, an advice agency, which Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and offer her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is so favorably impressed with his visit. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses. They quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $100.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XVI

Camilla told Rose then of the disagreement between Peter and herself. She found some relief from her confidence in a sympathetic listener. Rose nodded soberly. "I expected R. You might have known it would not work out."

"But, Rose, if this way doesn't, what would? It seemed to be the best plan in every way."

"The best plan would have been to wait until Peter was established before you married," emphatically.

"But that might be for years. And we love each other too much."

"Sure, that's just the trouble, no matter what class the man is in or whether it's a case of love or duty. The next best thing in your case would have been for you to let Peter take care of you and make the best of everything he could give you and anything he could do for you, even if you had to live on practically nothing but love."

"Oh, but that would have ruined Peter's career!"

"And what is your occasional wife plan doing for it?"

Camilla sighed and gestured helplessly. "I don't know. That's just it. Nothing is right."

Rose offered cheerfully. Oh, he will get over it and everything will be okay again until the next round. All husbands and wives have to quarrel about something once in awhile."

"Not the pure gold ones you were talking about. Rose, you don't tell me what class Peter is in."

"You should know. Class three, of course. Peter is no man of habit—his too clever. And if you ask me, I'd rather have a man who stops aside once in awhile because he has some brains and originality, than a man who is loyal because his wife is just like eating and sleeping, to him."

"What mean you wouldn't mind if he were untrue?"

"Oh, sure, I'd mind it. But what could I do about it? And who has everything just the way she wants it? I'm just saying that half a loaf is better than none and that if your man is in that first or second class, you have none. None of that romance and sentiment that women crave. That's why most of them have to get a substitute, like listening to radio crooners."

"But what shall I do about Peter?"

"Nothing. Just go to see him as usual and act as if nothing had happened. Men don't weigh and remember every word that's said like a woman does. They get over a quarrel as easily as they get into it. But don't mention money to him again. Let him see apples for a living, if he wants to be so stubborn and independent. I'm laughing in, too. Peter's a grand guy, but he needs a lift somewhere. If he don't take it from you, maybe he will from someone else."

"Who?" Camilla inquired anxiously.

"Oh, someone will recognize his talent, perhaps, and get around his pride complex. I hope so, for his own sake, and yours."

"The shuffling of the doorknob startled both of them. They looked at each other inquiringly, for they seldom had visitors."

"It's probably Peter," Rose observed. "If it is, I'll get out, so you two can talk."

"Please don't. I don't think it could be Peter, though." Already, her heart was racing at the thought.

"Well, you won't know until you open the door." She smiled to herself at Camilla, who sat as if glued to her chair and yet looking as if she wanted to fly to the door. "Just a second until I get this sewing out of sight."

Camilla patted her hair and powdered her nose hurriedly before she called into the speaking tube, "Hello."

"Camilla," inspired a voice that came as a exquisite delight to vibrate through her whole being. "It's Peter."

As if she didn't know! Already, she had pressed the electric button to release the downstairs lock, and was outside in the hall waiting when he reached the top of the stairs. His long legs always scored less than two or three steps at a time.

He took both her outstretched hands and kissed her eagerly, drawing her into the room. "Darling!"

"Peter, I'm so glad to see you!" she whispered.

He tossed his hat onto a table and looked around. "Hello, Rose. Am I intruding?"

"Not at all. I'm tickled to death you came. I wanted to go out home and see Ma tonight, but Camilla did not feel like going and I didn't want to leave her alone. Now I can run along."

"Why, you never said—" Camilla began.

"Of course not. I knew you would insist on staying alone. I'd rather not come back tonight, either. Can't you stay, Peter?"

"Why—if Camilla wants me."

"Well you two can settle that. I think I know what the answer will be. I'll wait outside. I'll wait outside."

"Back, anyway. I'll take my slip out and sew the lace on the machine. That will be much better and save me a lot of time." She was collecting her things as she talked. She stood before the mirror and adjusted a red beret over her soft black hair.

"Buttressed the collar of a tweed coat under her chin. "Chilly out, isn't it?" she asked Peter.

"Rather," he replied. "You don't mind going out alone?"

"I should say not! It's early yet. Well, goodbye, you two. See that you treat our guest right."

"Nice kid," said Peter, when she had gone. "Too bad she hadn't a chance like you."

"I don't know. In many ways, Rose is wiser than I. I envy her sometimes."

"Camilla, I came to apologize for the other day. I'm terribly sorry," he confessed.

"So am I, Peter. But that's all over. Let's forget it ever happened."

She was in his arms, with her arms around his neck, close.

"My precious! I wish it hadn't happened. But we'll start all over again, just as if it hadn't. Except please, dear, don't say any more about—"

"Which is the way men apologize and repent, with no restrictions or concessions. They may regret what has happened, but somehow this woman is still wrong in their opinion."

"But like all women in love, it was enough for Camilla that he once more held her close instead of drawing away from her, that his eyes looked deep into hers with confidence."

"It was I who had the blackie-blues that long. I haven't felt so good as long as I can remember. But everything is going to work out all right, somehow." His optimism was a happy surprise to Camilla. Hereafter, it had been she who encouraged him. This mood must be the rebound from the depths of his recent despair. It was so delicious to relax in his arms and in the buoyancy of his mood.

"You just forgot that the kind of thing you are doing can't be accomplished in a minute. And the best thing in life always takes time to accomplish."

"I don't mind waiting for a reasonable time, but I get panicky sometimes when I think about some of the old boys of the past who had to die before the world would recognize them. I may not be a genius in the class, but look at the fellow like Farquhar. He died penniless and writing a play that has survived for two centuries."

"Tell me about him. I don't know the story," Camilla prompted.

"His story fits plenty of others like him. But he wrote his masterpiece on his deathbed, when he knew he was doomed to die, and in extreme poverty. The play was a tremendous success from the first, but he lived for only a month after the premiere. Imagine the crowd of that—audiences roaring at the humor of his play while he suffered the last agonies of a slow death. And the play is still a success—just revived in London last season and made such a big hit that they're bringing it to America. Success is fate!"

"But, darling, genius gets a better break these days than it did two centuries ago."

He nodded. "That's what makes the struggle worth while; that, and hoping that even if I'm not recognized, I might be living might produce something that would add a book or a picture that can be hidden away or lost."

"Has Camilla known what power sustained his hope and confidence, she might have been less happy in sharing it. But she supposed that Peter's naturally buoyant nature had righted itself in his contrition over

3 MONTHS ON BISCUITS AND MILK

Woman's Digestive Troubles

Everyone who is subject to any form of indigestion should know of this new food experience. Advice from one who has had such severe attacks is advice worth having. She writes:

"I suffered from indigestion, gastritis and constipation, and was so very ill, I had (on medical advice) to live on bread, biscuits and milk for three months. Well, a friend advised me to take Fruchsen, and now I am pleased to say my troubles are ended. I can eat and enjoy a good meal without any painful after-effects, my skin is clearer—in fact, clearer—and there is no sign of constipation. I would advise anyone suffering the same to take Fruchsen." (Mrs.) M. R. L.

The immediate effect of the six sals in Fruchsen is to promote a natural flow of the digestive and other vital juices of the body. Soon after you start on Fruchsen you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without any distressing after-effects. And as you persevere with the "littles" daily, you will see that the relief which Fruchsen brings is lasting relief.

their quarrel, and that he had worked out his problem to satisfy his own peculiar pride. She did not know that he had dined that evening with Avis, and had brought away with him some of her faith in himself and her own ultimate victory.

She was to discover in the days which followed, that if you once put love away for even a little while, and then take it out again—it is never the same. It is like a flower that is so fragrant and beautiful that you want to keep it forever and put it away between the pages of a book to treasure with memories; but when you take it out again, it is not at all the same gorgeous thing that you once had in your hands.

Forget His Haughtiness

New York Hotel Doorman Took Tip

From Servantman

Anna Golden, scrubwoman, made her grand gesture the other day. Anna was one of 23 New Yorkers who gathered at the Hotel Roosevelt to receive prize awards in the Panama International Sweepstakes. She had advised, advance, that she had no truck with "cheques," and that she would prefer to take her $3,758 in cash.

Accordingly, Anna was "anded a tremendous roll of bills amid great ceremony. As she came through the revolving doors to the street, she encountered a tall, barrel-chested, gold-braided doorman who gave her a haughty glance as though to say: "Why don't you use the servants' entrance?"

Anna looked him over coldly. She peeped out her roll of bills. She peeped out a frown.

"Here, young man!" she said. "Go, get yourself a haircut."

He took it.

Montreal Cabbies

With the marked decrease in the number of cabbies' licenses issued in Montreal last year, a question of allowing motor vehicles to travel on Mount Royal again looms as a contentious issue. Last year, according to Mr. Lamoureux, who is in charge of the permit department of the city hall, there were only 96 cabbies' licenses which is a decrease of 25, as against the figure for the preceding year.

To Carry Pilgrims

Canard, Lincor, To Make Trip From New York To Buenos Aires

Next Fall

A special sailing of the Canard liner, Franconia, at present on her cruise around the world via the Southern Hemisphere, will be made next fall from New York to Buenos Aires to carry pilgrims to the Eucharistic Congress to be held there.

The Franconia will leave New York on September 15th and will call at Havana, Cuba; Port of Spain, Trinidad; and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on her way to the Argentine capital, where she will arrive on October 10th.

Here the ship will remain for four and one-half days, serving as a hotel for the pilgrims and allowing ample time to attend the ceremonies conducted by the Eucharistic Congress, as well as to enjoy the beauty of the largest city in the Southern Hemisphere, the metropolis of South America, popularly known to travelers as B.A. The city has a population of considerably more than two million, exceeding Rio de Janeiro by nearly six hundred thousand.

Buenos Aires is a combination of Paris and Chicago. In architecture it resembles the French capital, also in the style of gayety that makes Paris the mecca for Europeans. In wealth and love of amusement it is like New York. In industry it resembles the traveler of Chicago, being like the American city, a meat-packing centre. One fourth of Argentina's population lives in Buenos Aires, the largest Latin city in the world.

A unique feature of Buenos Aires is that it is a paradise for women. Here the men outnumber the fair sex five to one. Thus the scarcity of women adds to their popularity. With beautiful Spanish or Italian eyes, and a sparkle therein that would do honour to Madrid or Rome, these lovely Argentine women are virtually like princesses. They are not weak or effeminate, as is the case in countries where girls are plentiful.

Buenos Aires is situated one hundred miles up the Rio de la Plata, which river here looks more like a bay, being nearly thirty miles wide. The city is flat, and is between sixty and seventy feet above sea level. The name, God Air, fits it perfectly.

Buenos Aires is a modern and attractive in appearance. The cathedral is a noteworthy structure and one that is a beautiful location. The Teatro Colon is an architectural masterpiece. The Avenida Mayo, the city's main thoroughfare, is decided to be the finest street in the world. Vehicular traffic on the Calle Florida, the city's main thoroughfare, is suspended between the hours of 4 and 7 p.m., making it a safe and fashionable promenade. There are numerous and of a high order. Horse racing is the national sport and is conducted throughout the year.

South America's greatest daily newspaper, La Prensa, is published in Buenos Aires. The building which contains it is one of the show places of the city. Visitors are welcome.

On her northward voyage the Franconia will make return calls at Rio de Janeiro, Port of Spain and Havana, reaching New York on November 15th. The entire voyage will occupy forty-seven days.

The travel arrangements are under the direct control of the Cook & Son, the American Express Company and the Canard Line.

Little Helps For This Week

"I was afraid and went and hid thy talent in the earth, lo, thou hast that is thine." Matthew 25:25.

Time was I shrank from what was right.

From fear of what was wrong; I would not brave the sacred fight, Because the foe was strong.

But now I cast that finer sense And sootier also; Such dread of sin was indolence, Such aim at heaven was pride.

—J. H. Newman.

If the really devoted man falls into some error he does not fret over it, but rising up with a humble spirit, he goes on with his way rejoicing.

Were he to fall a hundred times in the day he would not despair, he would rather cry out lovingly to God appealing to His tender mercy and pity. The really devoted man has a horror of evil, but he has still greater love for that which is good, he is more set on doing right than avoiding wrong. Generous, large-hearted, he is not afraid of danger in serving God, and would rather run the risk of doing His will imperfectly than of not trying to do His will at all.

—Jean Nicolas Grou.

You do not see free advertising sheets giving any type towards promoting community activities, or reading space for church services and socials. Dear! They make a mad scramble to grasp business from those papers which have helped to develop an advertising consciousness; but ask them to give half a column to boost something and you'll likely be told that they have so much space for sale for that purpose. They exist for meal ticket purposes only; not for developing community enterprise or arousing civic pride—Colman Journal.

A question asked often nowadays: "Who told Bill Knight to come down to the relief-work of wages set by the government?" It's just the result of another big-wage demand that the provincial and federal governments would not stand for. But the difference between the government rate and the rate paid by an unjust council is loaded upon the shoulders of the bigger taxpayers of Blaimore. Like the regard local aggregations have for the school ordinance as it applies to the school grant. Whatever is lost by days short in the school year has to be made up locally, and those who have made the town by investing all their earnings here will have to meet that deficit. The $400 educational tax man does not have to foot one cent of it, but is enjoying all the privileges of the heavy taxpayer. The local council and school board as well as the government, can avail this.

The majority of the local district hotel proprietors have declared themselves as opposed to recent amendments made to the Alberta Liquor Act, which, among others, permit sealed bottled beer to be purchased and taken away from the hotel premises for consumption. Already, some of the resultant curses are apparent, first that empty bottles can be seen strewn in the lanes and gutters, and secondly the children gathering them up and heading with them in hand or pocket to where they can realize cash or candy for them. It will eventually develop the idea of stealing.
